Eat Smart Recipe Swaps

When a recipe calls for	You can:
Browning	Brown on a rack under a broiler. Fat can be drained on bottom pan and discarded.
Cheese Sauce	Mix $\frac{1}{2}$ fat-free shredded cheese together and use cheese in recipe.
When a recipe calls for	You can:
Chocolate	Use 3 Tbs. cocoa powder + 1 Tbs. water or canola oil for every ounce (1 square) of baking chocolate in the original recipe.
Cream Sauce	Mix one can of reduced-fat condensed cream soup, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup evaporated skim milk, and 1 tsp. of a dried herb (basil, dill, or tarragon) in a small sauce pan. Heat and serve.
Fat (margarine, butter, or oil)	Decrease the amount by half in most recipes. Each tablespoon you cut saves you 100 calories. Select a soft margarine (rather than butter) with liquid polyunsaturated oil as the first ingredient, or use canola oil. When baking, substitute an equal amount of applesauce, low-fat plain yogurt, baby food, or pureed fruit for the butter or oil.
Fluffy Frosting	Replace margarine or butter in recipe with marshmallow crème.
Frying	Use either egg whites or yogurt to roll food items in. Put breadcrumbs and other spices in a large, tightly-sealable plastic bag. After coating food in egg white or yogurt, put breading ingredients into plastic bag, reseal and shake to coat. Coat baking pan with non-stick cooking spray, place breaded items on pan and spray lightly again. Follow typical bake time, and turn piece often to allow even browning.

Gravy	Mix one single-serving envelope of instant creamy soup mix and 1 tsp. cornstarch in a small saucepan. Stir in 1 cup evaporated skim milk. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly, then cook and stir for 2 minutes longer.
Pie Crust	Use reduced-fat graham cracker crust.
Sautéing	Three steps: (1) Use a non-stick pan with non-stick cooking spray (Pam, Mazola, No-Stick, ect). (2) Cook in a low-fat bouillon broth. Heat 1-2 Tbs. stock to medium high; add vegetables or meat. Stir quickly until tender-crisp, allowing most of the liquid to collect in the pan. Raise the heat for evaporation of liquid or the vegetables will be soft rather than crisp. (3) Reduce the amount of fat. If the recipe calls for $\frac{3}{4}$ cup, use 2 Tbs.
When a recipe calls for: You can:
Stir-Frying	Coat the wok or pan with a very small amount of canola oil. When food begins to stick, use water, bouillon-made broth, tomato juice, fruit juice, or wine (the alcohol evaporates with cooking so few calories remain) for added moisture.
Sugar	Cut the amount by $\frac{1}{3}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ in cookies or cakes. Increase the amount of extract (almond, vanilla, ect) by $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. to replace reduction of sugar.
Whipped Topping	Combine $\frac{1}{3}$ cup ice water, 1 Tbs. lemon juice, $\frac{3}{4}$ tsp. vanilla, and $\frac{1}{3}$ cup non-fat dry milk powder. Beat 10 minutes or until stiff. Beat in 2 Tbsp. sugar. Prepare this in a chilled bowl with chilled beaters for best results.
White Sauce	Heat 1 cup evaporated skim milk, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup half-and-half, and 2 Tbs. butter or margarine over medium heat until butter is melted. Gradually stir in $1\frac{1}{4}$ cup fat-free parmesan cheese. Cook and stir until cheese has melted.

IT'S CHEESE! IT'S EASY! Cooking with Fat-Free Cheese

Cheese Dish	Tips
Bread Toppings	For best melting, broil fat-free shredded cheese at least 7 inches from heat source. For a softer, moister melt, spray surface of cheese lightly with non-stick cooking spray or water before broiling.
Casseroles & Lasagna	When making lasagna, stir cheese into tomato sauce for better results and melt. Keep casseroles covered during entire baking time. Sprinkle cheese on top after microwaving, allowing the heat from the cooked food to melt the cheese.
Cheese Sauces	Double the amount of liquid in standard process cheese sauce recipes. Start with the original amount of liquid melting the cheese and stirring with a whisk. After the cheese is completely melted, blend in the other half of the liquid. Stir in additional milk if re-heating the sauce.

Cheese Dish	Tips
Cheesecakes	Soften cream cheese to room temperature before mixing and beat separately before adding other ingredients.
Enchiladas	To facilitate melting to increase tenderness, mix cheese with other ingredients to fill enchiladas and add some sauce to the filing.
Frosting & Glazes	Eliminate milk from frosting recipes that use fat-free cream cheese. To reach desired spreading consistency, it may be necessary to add more powdered sugar to the recipe

Pizzas	Bake pizzas at 350 °F, rather than at a higher temperature to keep cheese moist. You may need to add five minutes or more to baking time. To promote melting, place the cheese on the pizza first, topping with moist ingredients such as tomato slices or sautéed vegetables.
Scrambled Eggs	Melt the cheese better by layering it in between two halves of an omelet.
White Sauces	Cut the amount of flour or other thickener in half. Use 2/3 of the milk called for in the first steps of making the sauce. Blend in the cheese, stirring over medium heat until melted. Blend in the remaining 1/3 of the milk and heat through.
